

The book cover is framed by a highly detailed woodcut border. The top section features a central figure, likely an angel or saint, holding a scroll, surrounded by clouds and other figures. The right side depicts the Crucifixion of Christ, with the Virgin Mary and other figures in the background. The bottom section shows a scene with several figures, including a central figure who appears to be Jesus, surrounded by others in a landscape. The left side features a figure, possibly a saint, standing in a landscape. The entire border is filled with intricate details, including clouds, foliage, and various religious figures.
